The Thinking Accelerator™ featuring HBDInteractive™

Get better results faster in an increasingly complex environment.

The challenges organizations face today require nimbler, more focused decision-making, innovation and leadership capabilities at every level, yet dispersed and virtual operations can make it difficult to reach everyone effectively. To stay ahead of the competition, organizations need a flexible, proven way to engage and unleash the full brainpower available to them.

The Thinking Accelerator™ featuring HBDInteractive™ makes it easy to put better thinking to work for better results across the business. Developed with IBM as part of its global new leader development program, this innovative solution immerses participants into the concepts, principles and applications of the Whole Brain® approach through a blended learning experience that can rapidly scale to meet today's complex business challenges.

With the Herrmann Brain Dominance Instrument® (HBDI®)—the premier thinking styles assessment tool used around the world—at its heart, the program's state-of-the-art simulation provides each participant with a self-paced, on-demand and personalized learning experience while helping you reach large, dispersed and virtual audiences faster and more efficiently.

- Quickly and efficiently ramp people up to new responsibilities
- Improve problem solving and decision making
- Increase productivity and engagement
- Boost collaboration, creativity and innovation

The Thinking Accelerator™ gives your participants the tools to apply Whole Brain Thinking® immediately to their real-life work challenges. They build skills that translate into better results across functions and tied to your most important business goals, from operations and leadership to sales and product development.

Flexible for Your Organizational Needs

- Self-paced or incorporated into other classroom, virtual or online training initiatives, The Thinking Accelerator™ adapts to your learning and business objectives.
- Start with the first three modules, which introduce and demonstrate the power of Whole Brain® Thinking and then explore the participant's personalized HBDI® Profile results.
- Add skill-building modules to build participant competencies in business-critical areas:
Communicating in Colors: Hands-on practice in listening and communicating skills.
Creating to Innovate: Activity-based exercises and practical tools for stretching one's thinking to improve creativity, problem solving and innovation.
